Horizons offers hope to troubled youths

LIVERMORE — The morning sunlight filters past towering date palms and gently brightens the old stone face of the Carnegie Building.

"HORIZONS" says the small wooden sign above the door Sunshine is warming a big speckled - leaf plant in the window, and splashing on the thick orange rug.

A mother and her young son are waiting in the comfortable reception room, admiring the dazzling morning and looking very relaxed.

It's a far cry from the police station or probation officer's cubicle where the two might be at this very moment if "Horizons" did not exist.

Milt Woolley, in flowered cowboy shirt and fuzzy beard, greets the pair cordially, striking that fine balance between patronizing friendliness and businesslike formality. Careful to consult the boy's feelings, not just the mother's. Inviting them into his office made personal with plants and photographs.

"Horizons" is Livermore's answer to the mechanisms of the county criminal justice system. Its $50,000 budget is paid mostly by federal funding, with about $2,000 paid by the City of Livermore and the same covered by the county.

The Pleasanton Police Department also sends youth to "Horizons" as an alternative to Juvenile Hall (the county detention facility in San Leandro), court hearings, a probable police record and probation.

If a young offender keeps his appointments for "Horizons" counseling and stays out of further trouble, the arrest report is torn up and the only trace the police department retains of that teen is a "tickler," a brief notation that the youth was arrested on a certain date. No police record returns to haunt him in future years as he tries to get a job or obtain security clearance.

Probably more important, the youth gets professional attention that is probably badly needed if he got into trouble in the first place.

"Horizons" is designed for youth 8 to 18 years old. Actually, the youngest offenders seen by Woolley and the other counselor, Mike Petrillo, have been 10. Most are between 12 and 15 years old.

Offenses are varied. There are many runaways — a "non - crime violation" which comes under the penal code heading of "out of parental control." Woolley explains that parents are responsible for their children until age 18, and if the children are beyond parental control the state is their self - appointed "parent."

Besides runaways, there are kids caught with drugs; charged with assault because of a fight; caught stealing and accused of a variety of other offenses.

Milt Woolley

Although most "Horizons" clients are referred by the Livermore or Pleasanton police department after an arrest, some just hear about the place and drop in or call for an appointment (Woolley is currently booked a month in advance.) Others are sent by a school counselor.

Both counselors have extensive backgrounds in youth work Woolley has a master's degree in social welfare and corrections and was a probation officer before joining "Horizons" last August. Petrillo, a minister, is well known around Livermore.

Their approach is to concentrate on the youth, but to involve the parents in seeking out the pressures and conflicts that have led their child to commit a crime.

First, they meet with the youth and parents, try to win their confidence and gain cooperation. Next come appointments with the youth, weekly at first, then less frequent. Meanwhile, the parents are encouraged to learn more about psychology and about how to deal with conflicts, through a Chabot College psychology course offered locally, through Al - Anon if there is an alcoholism problem in the family, or through other channels.

If they seem to need long - term counseling, they are referred to the Valley Mental Health Clinic or to a private psychologist.

"Two things we try to achieve," says Woolley, "are, first, to have the child realize he still has to maintain responsibility for his acting out. Regardless of his problems, he is still coming up against the system and it's going to hurt him.

"Second, we want to establish a sense of trust . Most of them start out with some level of resistance, they feel they've got to be here. We want them to think of us as a resource, a tool for them."

Livermore police chief Ronald Lindgren has called Horizons "an overwhelming success" now that it has completed two years of operation. Some 527 youths, plus their families in most cases, have met with Horizons counselors over the past year rather than being shunted into the county criminal system. Some of them have been so impressed with the program they have brought their own friends in for counseling.

Lindgren's office is compiling statistics on the number of youth who have been staying out of trouble since starting counseling.

But what can't be measured, as Woolley points out, is the insight and help "Horizons" has given to hundreds of troubled local families.

Livermore pay talks in offing

LIVERMORE — Salary negotiations with the city's four municipal employe associations may be reopened, even though three have contracts which extend through the 1975-76 fiscal year.

The request to reopen wage provisions for the associations is being made by City Manager Bill Parness.

"In view of the severe economic situation, it is considered to be grossly unfair to require that employes can be made to observe the wage provisions of a labor contract that certainly did not anticipate such a severe escalation in price idexes," Parness informed the city council in a memo.

The Consumer Price Index for the San Francisco Bay Area from December 1973 to December 1974 increased 12.55 per cent, said Parness.

The increase from March 1974 to December 1974 was 9.36 per cent so it is assumed that the annual rate from March 1974 to March 1975 will be in excess of 12 per cent, he added.

Of the three employe associations with contracts through 1976, one — which includes the clerical and technical employes — provides for wage renegotiations in the event the cost-of-living index increase exceeds 7 per cent.

Thus, renegotiations would be required for this group even without Parness' request.

Of the two remaining employe organizations, the one covering police is limited to a 4 per cent salary adjustment. The other association contract provides for a 5 per cent salary increase, plus an additional 1.5 per cent increase for all classifications more than 3 per cent behind the median of other public employe groups.

This last provision applies to Local 3 of the Operating Engineers and a slight modification of this adjustment applies to the Water Reclamation Plant employes only, explained Parness.

Renegotiations recommendations do not include the fire department.

An 18-month contract negotiated with the department in December 1974 calls for a 4 per cent salary increase effective July 1, 1975. The contract expires Jan. 1, 1976.

Parness' request will be considered by the city council at its meeting Monday night.

SUNOL — David Hoxie was elected president and Jim Ackerman, clerk at the Sunol Glen School District board meeting held earlier this week.

Formerly clerk of the board, Hoxie succeeds Henry Schneider.

Bay Area boondoggle

Are local highway plans futile?

Pleasanton's concern for gaining an overcrossing to span Interstate 680 and the valley's division over widening Interstate 580 through Dublin Canyon are somehow captured in the futility of this other freeway project, just south of San Jose. The setting is the confluence of Interstates 680, 280 and 101. Launched in March of 1972, the interchange got this far by 1975. With new federal money just released, the "first phase" of this project should be completed by 1978. But two other phases remain before the important melding of three highways is completed, "and that all depends on how soon federal money becomes available," explains Robert Halligan of the California pepartment of Transportation.

Halligan noted that "of the $104 million budgeted in 1972 for expenditure by 1976, only 35 percent has actually become available." Projects that require state funding are even worse off. Typical is the freeway link from San Pablo to Highway 7, "for which there is no money at all."

Local supporters of the widening plan to widen I - 580 through Dublin Canyon are fearful that "if the present project is ever stopped, it will never be funded again." A Sierra Club suit filed Friday is aimed at challenging the need for that freeway.

Even less likely, say City of Pleasanton spokesmen, is funding for an interchange at W Las Positas and I - 680. Asked where California now stands in the matter of funding all freeway projects, including high - priority interchanges, Halligan replied: "We have $500 million in project commitments right now, and that much more that hasn't even been designed." By 1980, he estimates "we will be very hard pressed just to maintain the freeways and highways we already have, let alone build anything new."

Narcotics case attorney 'fishes' in defense move

LIVERMORE — Proving that turn about is fair play, defense attorney Robert Dorne called two State Bureau of Narcotics Enforcement agents to the stand Friday in what Judge John A. Lewis termed — and nearly disallowed — a "fishing" expedition.

Dorne apparently was trying to chip away at District Attorney Carol Fickenscher's basis for "probable cause" in the arrest of Gonzlo Ayala on charges of possession of heroin for sale.

Ayala, 39, a Mexican national, and Raymond Duran, Jr., 38, Stockton, were arrested in Livermore's Holiday Inn parking lot on Mar. 18, in what police believe to be one of the largest narcotics hauls in the Valley.

Some 350 "balloons" of heroin with a street value of $9,000 - $10,000 allegedly were being passed by Ayala to Duran, according to police.

An earlier witness, State criminalist Basil Trabnikoff, testified at the preliminary hearing that his analysis of the package allegedly taken from Ayala's car after his arrest yielded some 350 balloons of 10 percent heroin, and 90 percent "probably lactose," he said.

Police previously believed the street-sale bullets contained between two and five percent heroin. The increase, according to Times sources, could have doubled the previously reported $9,000 - $10,000 street value.

Trabnikoff testified he was given a large plastic bag containing 12 smaller bags, 11 of which held 30 balloons, and one with 20 balloons. The 12-year veteran chemist, who told the court he'd "anaylzed heroin at least 1,000 times," sampled 60 balloons, five from each bag, using three color tests that allegedly proved the powder to be of opium derivation, a micro-crystaline test which he said revealed the opium derivative to be heroin, and a spectral-photometric test allegedly showing it at 10 percent.

State agent Todd Lofgren opened the proceedings by recounting the events of Mar. 18, when, following a four-hour stakeout, he and two other State agents claim they tailed Ayala from his San Jose apartment to the parking lot. They arrested the pair after Duran allegedly pulled into the lot and stepped into Ayala's car.

Ayala was being watched following a tip that Duran was picking up a large supply of heroin sometime Mar. 18 or 19.

Loffgren earlier told the court of another "confidential operator" who allegedly had been dealing with Ayala, but whom Ayala turned off after the operator's arrest in Stockton.

That informer, according to Lofgren, had at one time assisted Ayala in cutting and bagging the heroin, and was told by Ayala that Duran would take over.

Lofgren claimed he knew of no deal between the informer and police in return for the information.

The young, mod, State agent also told the court Ayala was seen accepting a two-inch revolver from an unknown male during a Mar. 14 - 17 surveillance. According to police reports, a gun later was found in Ayala's N. 13th St., San Jose, apartment.

Judge Lewis cautiously told Lofgren to reveal the name of the informant, since his ability to provide police with specific information probably had revealed his identity, but stopped short of Dorne's query into the address saying, "his health could be in jeopardy."

The "confidential operator," Paul Parenti, allegedly told police Ayala passed between 100 and 800 balloons per week to him, and cited four Livermore locations for their transactions, according to Lofgren.

Valley water unit clarifies funding

A recent report that the Livermore-Amador Valley Water Management Agency is about to receive $2 million in state funds is somewhat misleading, according to LAVWMA officials.

That $2 million has been set aside by the state ever since the agency's inception in 1974 and does not represent any new or unexpected funds.

LAVWMA has received approximately $200,000 in Step 1 grants for preparation of its project report and Environmental Impact Report.

"It has been generally understood from the outset," Dan Murphy of the LAVWMA staff said, that when LAVWMA is ready to prepare plans and specifications for its water management project, state funds will be available. That $2 million represents those Step 11 grant funds and is included in the state's priority list for the 1975-76 fiscal year.

Murphy added Step 11 grant funds will be for construction of the project itself. LAVWMA has yet to determine which project best suits the valley's needs. Among those under consideration are a reservoir, which would contain treated effluent in the dry weather months and release it in the wet weather months when it would not adversely affect the Alameda Creek; and construction of an interceptor pipeline that would connect with the pipeline being constructed by the East Bay Dischargers Agency.

Bleak city report

$30 million in hole

PLEASANTON — At present, the City of Pleasanton is $30 million in the hole regarding needed capital improvements and new growth will not erase that "deficit."

That is one of the conclusions of the long-awaited economic analysis of the revised General Plan. That $22,000 report, prepared by the Institute of Regional and Urban Studies, was released by Planning Director Bob Harris Friday.

The results of that year-long study were not unexpected. Rather, the report confirms the bleak financial outlook city officials had anticipated.

The city council has called a special public hearing on the economic analysis for May 5 and the public is invited to attend.

The study is broken down into operating and capital improvements estimates and considers them both for the next five years and beyond 1980.

With no increase in population in the next five years, the study estimates, Pleasanton's operating budget will face small deficits increasing to $350,000 or eight percent of projected revenue by 1980. That deficit level could be covered by a 13 percent increase in the tax rate.

If the city is allowed to develop its present commitments (approximately 3,000 units), there would be no budget deficit and there would be sufficient funds to increase the city staff by 24 percent. (This would compare to a 32 percent increase in households and a 28 percent increase in population.)

The report emphasizes those projections are based on maintaining service programs at the "same level of service." If new city functions are required by that growth, the financial impact would naturally be greater.

CAPITAL CRUNCH

The real crunch comes in the estimates for capital projects.

With or without those 3,000 units, the city will not be able to pay for an estimated immediate $8.7 million in capital improvements nor the additional $21 million in projects that should be completed to effectively and efficiently serve the present population.

That $30 million "deficit" in the capital improvement area (which includes such things as parks, government buildings, streets, water and sewer projects), cannot be made up with the traditional revenue sources of the city, the report states.

Beyond 1980, the conclusions of the report are based on "trends" and the authors admit, "The projections beyond 1980...will probably not be very accurate" because "they are based on an assumption of continued trends in existing expenditure programs and existing sources of revenue."

That financial picture may change if new revenue sources are developed, the study states.

To complete the city to its ultimate 76,00 population, another $30 million in capital expenditures (at today's figures) would be necessary.

Harris said the big burden in that estimated $60 million capital improvement program is construction of streets. One of the traditional revenue sources for street construction is gas taxes and those taxes, Harris added, "are flattening out and will probably decline."

Harris said the next five years is at least somewhat predictable but beyond 1980, "we really don't know what is going to happen." Because of the increasing number of external pressures and constraints on the city, he added, "we can no longer really plan in the traditional sense regarding the General Plan."

He said the city will try not to make "hollow promises" to property owners outside the present city limits. "What we're going to be saying (to them)," he said, "is that things are highly problematical beyond a certain point."

Harris emphasized the city's General Plan will not change. "We will still use it as a guide but we are going to be saying we don't know what will happen" to some of those areas planned for development.

City eyes 75-76 park priorities

PLEASANTON — The city council is expected to determine Monday night which of the park and recreation capital improvement projects, which total nearly $400,000, will be retained in the 1975-76 budget.

That determination, which was precipitated by the Park and Recreation Commission two weeks ago, will most likely be the most controversial part of the public hearing on the preliminary $7.3 million budget for the coming fiscal year.

The commission had expressed the concern that, if capital improvements money is rapidly running out, perhaps that $400,000 would be better spent on increasing the number of neighborhood parks rather than on major community projects like the Sports Park, deep water pool and Cultural Arts Center.

Dr. James Gaeckle will address the council on the malpractice insurance crisis and will seek the city's support for two pieces of legislation that would resolve that problem.

Pleasanton Garbage Service will also be before the council on two separate matters. The council is expected to attach a condition to the company's use permit for a transfer station on Busch Road that would require the Southern Pacific Railroad crossing which traverses access to the site be designated a public crossing.

The garbage firm is also seeking to prezone the 23 acres it now owns on Vineyard Avenue — site of the present dump — to agricultural use as defined by Pleasanton rather than Alameda County.

The council will also discuss the possibility of hiring a tennis monitor to regulate use of the Amador High School tennis courts. The monitor would be paid by fees collected from tennis players.

Other actions on the Monday agenda include public hearings on the establishment of underground utility districts on Santa Rita Road and on Abbie Street, consideration of rezoning nine acres at 3716 Stanley Blvd. from commercial freeway to commercial service, approval of revised traffic signal priorities and a report on SB 275, the labor relations bill pending in the state legislature.

The council meeting will begin at 8 p.m. Monday in the Pleasanton Justice Court. Immediately prior to the meeting, Councilman - Designate Roger McLain will be sworn in.

School district faces new warehouse woes

PLEASANTON — The Amador - Pleasanton School District is arranging for a meeting with representatives of the real estate division of the Corps of Engineers regarding the district's warhouse facility.

The district must vacate the warehouse complex by September 9 or pay a rental fee that could be in five figures.

All of the districts' food supplies and other materials have been stored in the warehouses at Parks on a token $1 a year lease agreement. The Corps has now decreed that a fair market value rental must now be charged on all such facilities.

The school district is also known to be looking at other warehouse facilities in the valley, including the former Volkswagen plant on the Pleasanton side of Highway 580.

Whether the district pursues other sites available in the valley will depend on the fair market value price offered by the Corps.

Planners consider rezoning

Alameda County Bureau

HAYWARD — Bob Molinaro of the Pleasanton Garbage Service will seek rezoning of the 23-acre garbage dump property on Vineyard Avenue before the Alameda County Planning Commission Monday.

Molinaro would like to have the property rezoned for single family development with a five-acre minimum building site area.

The commission will also discuss a proposed tentative tract map from Ribco, Inc. which would result in the subdivision of 43 acres in Dublin in 13 industrial lots, ranging in size from 8 to 1.8 acres.

The property is located along the northwest corner of Sierra Lane and Dougherty Lane, along Trinity Court, and the cul-de-sac of Sierra Court.

Rancho Sierra Investment Company has applied for rezoning of 3.6 acres from light industrial to general commercial located at 6637 and 6715 Dublin Blvd.

The Dublin Land Company is also seeking rezoning for 10.91 acres from the highway frontage zone to retail business, located at the southeast corner of the intersection of Dublin Boulevard and San Ramon Road.

The commission will also consider Kaiser Aetna Company's application to rezone three acres at the corner of Dublin Boulevard and Village Parkway from light industrial to general commercial.

The commission meets at 1:30 p.m. Monday in the Alameda County Public Works Building, 399 Elmhurst St.

Livermore to weigh election

LIVERMORE — If this city opts for an elected mayor, the soonest he — or she — could be elected is in three years.

The question of whether Livermore should have an elected mayor could be put on the general election ballot of March 1976 and if approved the actual election would take place during the 1978 general election, three years hence.

This information from the city attorney will be considered by the city council at its regular meeting tomorrow night in the Municipal Court Chambers, 39 S. Livermore Ave. The meeting begins at 8 p.m.

Council presently selects a mayor by a majority vote each year. It is the expressed desire of outgoing Mayor Robert Pritchard, who is resigning from the council as of April 28, that the city's mayor be elected by the voters.

The request for information on electing a mayor, however, was made by Councilman Dale Turner prior to Pritchard's resignation.

According to City Attorney Bob Logan, a ballot dealing with the question of whether Livermore should have an elected mayor must ask three things:

Whether the voters should elect a mayor and four council members; whether the term of office for mayor should be two years, and whether the term should be four years.

All that is needed to decide each question is a simple majority.

Logan also noted that the status, duties and powers of a mayor are the same as the other council members but that he can receive additional compensation over what council members earn.

In Livermore, all council members, — including the mayor — earn $200 a month.

Both the council and the voters, through an initiative, may call for the direct election of the mayor, a memo written in November 1971 by then-City Attorney John Lewis informed the council.

According to Logan's memo, the council itself decides which seat is to be designated as the mayor's. This would be done after the voters endorsed having an elected mayor (theoretically in 1976) and before the actual election to do so (theoretically in 1978).

Also to be considered by the council at its meeting Monday night are an ordinance allowing curbside mailboxes; a letter from Assemblyman Floyd Mori explaining his efforts to locate a local Employment Development office in the valley; staff negotiations with the Kissell Company on permit extentions for the Greenville North area; a sewer connection agreement with Oakland Scavenger Company; a tentative map for an industrial tract on Vasco Road, and a letter from Judge John Lewis thanking the city public works department for its prompt response to his request that bicycle lanes be so designated clearly.

Reports from the city manager will be heard on the city's insurance renewal; property acquisition for the Isabel Freeway; salary renegotiations with municipal employes, and Portola Avenue truck parking.

The public works director will report on the landscaping and irrigation plans now needed for the railroad relocation project; the planning director, Olivina Avenue-Murietta Boulevard intersection, and council members Helen Tirsell and Dale Turner, Valley Memorial expansion plans.

Pizza parade

If pizza's on your menu this week, you can help Livermore High's several choral groups out by buying at the Pizza Arcade on East Avenue, Livermore, 6 to 9 p.m. Monday. During those hours, LHS will share in the profits and in return will entertain the public with Tahitian dancing, ragtime piano, jazz, banjo and much more. Warming up here are (from left) Debbie Hannon, Brian Barrett, Sue Hannon. (Times photo)

New community band to sound birthday

PLEASANTON — Strike up the band!

A Community Band is being organized by the Pleasanton Bi-Centennial Festival Committee to play at various functions during the celebration of the nation's 200th birthday.

The initial meeting of the band will be held Tuesday, April 22, from 7 p m. to 10 p.m. in the Amador High School Band Room (M-1). The group will continue to meet Tuesdays.

All interested members of the community are invited to participate in the band by director Jerry Lapinski, who is the music director at Wells Intermediate School.

The band will be under the auspices of the Adult Education Program.

According to Lapinski, the band will consist of (but will not be limited to) six flutes, eight to 10 clarinets, six trumpets, two to three trombones, one bass, one baritone, four saxaphones, (two E flat and 2 B flat), two French horns, two tubas and three percussion.

For more information about the band or for those who are interested in joining but cannot attend Tuesday, contact Mike Connolly, director for adult education, 462-1615; Bi-Centennial Festival Committee Chairman Charlotte Severin, 846-6382, or Jerry Lapinski, 443-0592 (after 5 p.m.).

Circuses need balloon blowers. Here, Terry Hunt, Pleasanton, shows Bill Ogee (left) President of Aahmes Shrine Unit of Greeters, and Art Johnson, Aahmes Alchemist Clown how he plans to do it for the all new Shrine Polack Bros. Circus, coming to Oakland Auditorium April 15 - 27.

Valley agency calls for meet on future BART route plans

LIVERMORE — The Congress of Valley Agencies (COVA) will coordinate a pre-public meeting between Bay Area Rapid Transit (BART) extension consulting engineers and various Valley councils, commissions and agencies, it was decided at Thursday's COVA steering committee meeting.

The motion followed a 40-minute presentation by John Blayney of Livingston and Blayney, city and regional planners, and is tentatively scheduled for Thursday, Apr. 24.

Public hearings will be held Apr. 29 in Pleasanton, and Apr. 30 in Livermore.

The committee felt the 132-page report, even when reduced to its 10-page summary, precipitated more questions than answers, and asked Valley representative on the BART board Robert Allen to supply full copies to COVA's members.

Written comments on the draft report submitted by May 12 are being solicited by BART's Board of Control prior to a May 15 board meeting.

The Livingston and Blayney report maps out the proposed route of BART from the Bay Fair station to East Livermore, and points out alternate routes and the reasons for their rejection.

Considerable time also is spent on the rail/bus controversy, and the comparative costs of the systems in both construction and operation.

Handicapped kids await new circus

Some 5,000 Bay Area boys and girls, many who are handicapped, (handicapped physically, mentally or socially) will be given the opportunity to see elephant "Baby Mike" ride his tricycle at a special performance of the Shrine Circus at 10 a.m. on Saturday, April 26, at Oakland Auditorium.

Thanks go to many Shriners of Aahmes Temple Oakland, who are known as "Circus Daddys'" and who open their hearts as well as their wallets to make this particular show possible.

Baby Mike is one of the many stars of the all new Aahmes Polack Bros. Shrine Circus — April 25 through April 27 — Oakland Auditorium. Circus performances are Friday April 25 — 8 p.m. Saturday April 26 — 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. — Sunday April 27 — 1 p.m. and 5 p.m.

General Admission tickets are $2 each — Reserved and Ringside seats are $3 each. For ticket information you may call (415) 533-8156 or 533-8396.

Circus proceeds support the work of the Shrine Hospital for crippled children through Aahmes Temple.

Attendance boundary warning

PLEASANTON — A revised letter alerting new residents that their children may not necessarily attend the school nearest them will be put up in real estate offices throughout the Amador and Pleasanton school districts.

Pleasanton school board president Al Dutchover reminded board members of such a necessity at the panel's regular meeting earlier in the week.

Dutchover's comments were in reference to the boundaries problem which Dr. David Carlisle, director of research and development, and other staff members have been working on.

Under the terms of some of the 11 options presented, some children may have to be transported to schools other than the closest one to them.

Communicating the 'why' of NOW

Susie Larson and Dorris Fagan (center) outlines NOW objectives to Judy Matheson and Kathee Steel of the Pleasanton Newcomers.

By LILLY AULT

"If a woman ever became president," stated Dorris Fagan, local coordinator for NOW (National Organization for Women), "it would probably be announced on the Women's Page of the newspapers."

In addressing the Pleasanton Newcomers luncheon recently, Dorris informed the group she felt the news media was most responsible for the "image" given to women.

Dorris told the group that in some cases it has been stated that NOW is an organization composed mainly of middle class white radical women. "This is not true," she said. "NOW is an organization for everyone. All types of women are welcome in the group regardless of race or religion."

Dorris is frequently called upon to speak at high school classes and various organizations to talk about NOW since awareness of the women's movement has become greater.

"Womens rights is not a new thing, it came about one hundred years ago and ended quietly around the time of the Civil War. Women have, from time to time, taken part in doing a man's job," she told the group. Here she reminded her audience of time during World War II when women went into the factories to do the work men had been doing while the men were off fighting.

Following the war, women went back into the home and the big baby boom came. Women returned to the role of housewife and mother. She went on to state that women have been isolated by those same roles as housewives and mothers. These are good roles Dorris declared, but she feels a woman should have a choice of the role she wants to be a part of and not have society dictate to her.

She recalled the organization of the first meeting of NOW in the Valley and that only 50 women turned out. Yet inspite of all the wrong ideas of the group, the local organization is growing more and more each meeting.

To help the women fully understand what NOW was all about, Dorris read the equal rights statement currently before both houses, that is, "No citizen's rights will be abridged on account of sex."

"That's what it's all about," she said. "We are not trying to compete in any way, we just want to be treated equally, with the rights to our own way of life, and above all having the opportunity to make a choice.

Judy Matheson another speaker concerned with women's rights told the group, "this is something I waited for all my life," in referring to NOW.

Judy joined the Air Force when she was unable to put her education to use the way she desired. The Air Force was a "hog heaven" to Judy.

"It was fun being in the Air Force and I would go back if I could," she told the group. "I'd also make a lot of waves now too.

"It's very much a man's world. The women were kind of a toy or decoration to have around. There were many jobs women were not permitted to fill. We were expected to take ourselves seriously and think like a man, but treated as women limited in their abilities."

Judy took the fastest way to get out of the Air Force, she became pregnant. "I was unhappy, frustrated, bored and felt I was wasting my life."

Judy went on to discover there were many other women who felt the same as she did. She found women were taking to heavy drinking because they found their life boring and had feelings of worthlessness. Many even had reached a point where they had to receive medical care.

"We all had one thing in common which we all reacted to differently."

Judy told the women it was a good feeling to be able to be with a group who understood the problems you were having because they, too, were facing some of the same situations.

Judy recalled her up-bringing was strictly geared to being brought up to be a lady.

"I was constantly told what I should do. Get a good education, get married, have children and I guess," she said, "live happily ever after. Life is not that way. Here I am ready for the 'happy ever after' yet I don't have it. Immediately I feel I failed somewhere along the line not doing what I should have done."

Judy's answer to frustrations was getting active with the women's rights movement where she might help others out of feelings of complete frustration.

Not all the women in attendance were in agreement with the speakers thoughts and feelings. One woman, a career girl at one time, now married with children, stated to the speakers that she felt the organization put the profession of being a mother and housewife down. In her opinion this could lead to just as serious a problem in the future for women who want to be housewives and find it rewarding.

"I find my present job much more of a challenge than the one I had," she stated. "I work longer hours than I ever did before, I'm my own boss, I can do things my way, I don't have to do something just because someone thinks its necessary even though it may not be. I'm a housewife and I'm proud of it." A round of applause came from the audience.

The NOW group meets every third Thursday with a "hostility" hour at 6:30 p.m. and a meeting at 7:30 p.m. at Homestead Savings and Loan, 7889 Dublin Blvd., Dublin. The next meeting is scheduled for April 17 and all interested women are invited to attend.

41st Infantry

The 41st Infantry Division Association will celebrate a 27th annual reunion July 3-6 at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco.

The event will be hosted by the Northern California Chapter, and planning meetings will be held the first Friday of each month at the "49-er" room of the Palace Hotel at 8 p.m.

The birth of a city

Standing beside the historical Kottinger Adobe Barn and jail is Herb Hagemann, grandson of the founder of Pleasanton, who will offer colorful stories about the site and John Kottinger who created the community at a time when the area was wild and untamed. He speaks at the April 16 dinner - lecture sponsored by the Amador - Livermore Valley Historical Society at the Pleasanton Hotel. Valley residents are invited to take an inside look at the city's past with the noted local historian at $7 per person. Reservations for the event which begins with cocktails at 6:30 p.m. may be made by calling 447-3964.

Dublin gets 7-year itch, tops Dons

Dublin High wrote its own emancipation proclamation Friday breaking the shackles that come with seven years of bondage.

When the Gaels blanked Amador Valley, 2-0 in EBAL baseball, it was the first time in history they had defeated the kids from the warm side of the freeway. The triumph boosted Dublin back into the pennant race with a 2-1 record, but that didn't matter. What did was breaking an 0 for 7 streak, no wins in seven years of chasing the Dons.

"They were determined they were going to beat Amador, and they did," crowed jubilant Dublin coach Tom Mullican. "Two outstanding teams were out there today, and we were better. Every kid on the team did a super job."

On a day when hits were taboo, Dublin broke to a two-run lead after an inning and turned to pitcher John Prieto for protection. Working for the first time in two weeks following a suspension, Prieto set down Amador on three scratch hits

Dublin managed just two against Amador's Mark Larson, who struck out nine, but walked four.

"We practiced on playing a certain kind of game, and that's what we played," Mullican said. "We intended to cut down on his strikeouts, by just making contact. And we knew he has been walking a lot of batters, so we knew that when we got runners on base, we had to score runs. We had to get ahead in a hurry."

The game plan fell into place like a child's puzzle.

Larson, a hard-throwing left hander intent on honing his curve ball, walked the first two Dublin batters in the bottom of the first inning.

Prieto attempted to sacrifice Larry Castello and Dave Anderson up one base, but instead produced the first run. Larson flagged down John's bunt, but threw the ball away at first base, sending Castello home, and Anderson to third base.

Larson wasn't the sole source of blame for the error however. Second baseman Dave Krikorian failed to cover the first base bag in time, and forced his pitcher to throw at a moving target.

The swashbuckling Gaels scored their second run against a drawn-up Amador infield when Jim McCuaig bounced to shortstop Mike Johnson.

Johnson threw to catcher Mark Bevilacqua in hopes of cutting off Anderson, but he slid under the tag.

Still playing lights out on the bases with Prieto at third, Matt Billy failed on a suicide squeeze bunt attempt, and Prieto was eliminated. And thus was the offense laid to rest.

Larson and Prieto commanded the batters the rest of the day. Dublin's right hander never allowed a runner to reach third base, struck out four, and walked just one.

"Prieto did a great job," said a grateful Mullican "He had something to prove and he did it." —Mike Zampa

MV lets George do it-and wins

When the East Bay Prep writers unveiled their first Baseball poll listings some two months back, Monte Vista high of Danville was seeded in the top ten.

Monte Vista? Where did they finish in 1974?

But the Answer lies within newly acclaimed Mustang mentor George Cockerton.

Still maintaining their ranking in the top 10 last week, which will surely move up this Tuesday, Monte Vista picked up their third East Bay Athletic league win in as many tries over visiting Granada, 3-2 last Friday afternoon in Danville.

Tied at two apiece prior to the bottom half of the fifth inning, MV pushed across what was to be the go ahead and winning run.

After Dennis Dow walked, Mark Silva laid down a perfect bunt in front of the plate. Granada pitcher Bob Stoddard elected to throw out the fleet footed Dow at second, but the ball had other ideas sailing into center field. Both MV runners moved into third and second base.

Paul Ressler was then called upon to execute a squeeze bunt, and while Dow was scampering down the third base line, catcher Jay Strickland and third baseman Steve Stone combined to throw out Dow for the initial out of the inning.

After Stoddard struck out Ressler, the Mat pitcher uncorked a wild pitch which advanced Silva to third, and Steve Jones to first on a walk. Then Stoddard yielded Silva home with the winning run on still yet another wild pitch.

In the first for Monte Vista, Silva led it off with the Mustangs fifth hit in three EBAL outings. Ressler was nicked with a Stoddard fast ball, then Greg Goodman walked to load the bases.

After Kevin Johnson unsuccessfully tried to squeeze home Silva on a bunt, the Mustang batsmen was later called out swinging for the second out. Tim Moriarty followed with a sinking base hit to left which drove in the first two runs of the game.

For Granada in the third, it was a Bill Jesperson solo home run over the left center field fence. And in the fifth inning, with one gone Ken Stayton started it off looping a base hit into right field. Tim Duke sacrificed Stayton to second with a slow roller to Dudley. The after Pat Gosney drew a walk, Stayton moved to third on a Moriarty error behind the plate.

Dave Spencer legged out an infield liner to the left side of the infield which scored Stayton with the tieing run.

Pitching wise, both Stoddard and Chris Dudley looked very impressive, both throwing four hitters for the afternoon. Dudley fanned nine batsmen, while Stoddard wiffed seven. Dudley also was credited with five put outs on slow hit rollers in the infield.

Five in a row for Irvington

Irvington High is doing it's best to rename the Amador Valley Invitational Relays to the Irvington scrimmage.

For the fith year in succesion the Vikings captured the boys team title as they outdistanced host school Amador Valley, which made a hardy attempt to win it's first team title in the five years of existence.

The Vikes amassed 73 points to the Dons' 59. San Leandro placed third with 38 while College Park and Mt. Eden rounded out the top five with 33 and 32 points respectively.

College Park and Mt. Eden tied for the Girls title with 20 points each. Amador finished third with 10 markers.

Dublin's Dan Harvey, after fluctuating between third and first positions throughout most of the race, turned on the speed in the last 330 yards to win the open mile in 4:34.3. Paul Bork of De La Salle was second, just one tenth of a second behind Harvey.

With Andy Finn clearing 6-4, the Dons' won the high jump relay with a new meet record 18-4. Jim Turner and Frank Heim each went 6-0 to help eclipse San Leandro's previous best of 18-2.

The team of Chris Huntze, Casey Safreno, Chris Larson and Rick Preneau won the frosh-soph mile relay for the Dons'. Preneau, who competes on the Amador varsity squad in dual meets, leaned at the tape to nudge his San Leandro foe. Both squads were clocked in 3:44.5.

Huntze, Safreno, Preneau and Jeff Nielson combined talents to win the frosh-soph two mile relay. The Amador quintet booked a 8:37.5 time for the eight lap event.

Mike Croteau and Perry Wilkey finished two-three in the tough open 100 yard dash field. Croteau was timed in 10.5 while Wilkey ran a 10.6 into a slight breeze.

Irvington set a new meet record in the 280 yard shuttle high hurdles as Bill Baker, Jim Wright, Mike Brown and Dave Stevenson ran a 36.6 to destroy the previous mark of 37.2, which was shared by Irvington and Las Lomas. —Steve Mona

Granada tenth at LL meet

WALNUT CREEK — League-leading Granada was the only East Bay Athletic League swimming team to crack the top ten in team scoring yesterday at the annual Las Lomas relays.

The Matadors chalked up 88 points to finish tenth, 108 points behind host Las Lomas which won the event.

San Ramon had 24 points for 18th place, followed by Amador Valley one step back with 22 points. Livermore ended up last with a meager two points.

Granada's best performance in any one event was a third place in the step-up relay with a time of 8:07. Mike Kurtzer, John Rizzo, Steve Cutting and Chris Hoenig composed that Mat quartet.

The Matadors had a trio of sixth places with many of the same swimmers responsible.

Rizzo and Hoenig teamed with Dave Johanson and Dave Eckard to finish the 400 freestyle at 3:55.5. In the 200 medlay relay, Johanson, Eckard, Cutting and Ron Johanson fashioned a 1:50.4.

Amador Valley's top finish came in diving where the Don team of Dave Dalheim, Matt Bishop, Andy Jensen and Dave Potts came in seventh.

Several records were broken during the meet, dominated by Foothill Athletic League schools. Two of the marks were shattered by fourth place San Rafael.

Five Foothill schools finished in the top ten; Las Lomas, Campolindo Acalanes, Miramonte and Del Valle.

Mats drop 'Easter' tourney

IRVINGTON — Despite an impressive nine-run performance in their first game of the day, the Granada Matadors lost in a bid to take consolation honors in the Mission Valley Athletic League Easter Baseball Tournament, which began sometime before the turn of the century.

In the consolation final, the Mats dropped a 4-1 decision to Kennedy of Fremont to finally depart the oft-delayed tourney. Granada had advanced to the game with a 9-4 win over Memorial earlier in yesterday's action.

Against Memorial, the Mats left little time for suspense as they pounded out seven runs in the top of the first inning.

Pat Gosney led off with a walk, stole second and went to third as Bob Stoddard walked and Dave Spencer singled. A combination of walks issued to Jay Strickland, Keith Texeira, Steve Stone and Tim Duke and a pair of passed balls brought in five runs.

The Matadors apparently used up their firepower in the opener, however, as they could manage only a lone run in the sixth while losing to the Titans.

Duke handled the mound chores for Granada througout the second game, giving up four hits, three walks and fanning six.

THINKING OF A NEW TV?
Bob Goodman cordially invites everyone thinking of buying a new TV to COMPARE MGA with Sony
"I think two of the very best color TV sets on the market are MGA and Sony. Before deciding on which of them to carry at my store, I investigated the Companies and the Product. I chose MGA. I suggest you do the same. Go to a Sony dealer. Check the picture quality, the features and the warranty. Then drop by Contemporary TV and compare them to MGA. I think you will be pleasantly surprised."

EBAL fair in Stapleton

ANTIOCH — Three EBAL schools placed in the top ten as the Charlie Stapleton relays were run here yesterday.

San Ramon, sans Roy Kissin, was fifth with 16 points while Livermore was just a point back in sixth. Granada finished ninth with the unlikely score of 12 and five-sixths.

The Wolves placed in four races and acquired points in three field "relays".

The Danville team won the sprint medley relay with a 3:41.6 clocking, was second in the 880 relay (1:33.2), third in the 440 relay (45.3) and fifth in the two mile relay (8:37.1)

In the field events the Wolves took third in both the pole vault (34 feet) and the discus (521-10) and tied for fifth with Alameda in the triple jump (122- 3/4). Three entrants distances were totalled to arrive at the team score in the field events.

In a late event, SR finished second in the mile relay at 3:30.7.

Granada won the mile relay by less than a second over the Wolves with a 3:30.1 time and took second in the 480 shuttle low hurdles at 58.1

In its lone field relay place, Granada finished in a three - way tie for fourth (with Mt. Diablo and Kennedy - Fremont) in the high jump. The Mats lept for a 17-4 total.

Two EBAL schools which failed to place in relay competition staged the league's finest individual showing.

Livermore's Boyd Tarin won the two mile ahead of Dublin's Dan Harvey with a time of 9:44.6. The Gael had a 10:02.2 clocking.

In the open mile, another Cowboy, Brett Hazen, came in second at 4:32.9 while Granada's Rich Antal crossed the stripe fifth after running for 4:40.4.

In the 100-yard dash both Danny King of Granada and Livermore's Rich Sessions were timed in 10.3, however King was awarded third with Sessions fourth.

A's hold on to tip Texas, 5-4

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Oakland's Vida Blue and Rollie Fingers teamed on a three-hitter, and Sal Bando and Billy Williams hit home runs for the A's in a nationally televised 5-4 victory over the Texas Rangers Saturday.

Bando's homer drove in three runs and Williams' was his first in the American League, off former teammate Ferguson Jenkins.

It was Blue's second victory of the season. Tom Grieve's 370-foot homer over the left field wall in the third inning and Lenny Randle's run-scoring single in the ninth accounted for the only hits off the Oakland left-hander, who was replaced by Fingers with two out in the ninth. Fingers surrendered a two-run single to Jeff Burroughs.

Blue retired 20 of the first 21 batters he faced.

Williams, who hit 392 homers in 19 seasons in the National League for the Chicago Cubs, greeted good friend Jenkins with a 370-foot line drive homer in the second inning. Jenkins was a 20-game winner six times for the Cubs before coming to the Rangers where he won 25 games in 1974.

With Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and AL President Lee MacPhail looking on, designated hitter Grieve timed a Blue fastball perfectly on a 3- and 2-count to tie the score.

Bando's two-out homer, his first of the year, followed singles by Ted Kubiak and Bill North in Oakland's fifth frame.

Jenkins was treated roughly by the hard-hitting A's. He beat them five times in five outings last year but surrendered 10 hits Saturday in seven innings en route to his second loss of the year.

LL series out

MANILA — The chairman of Little League Baseball Inc. said Saturday there never will be another World Series for boys below the age of 12.

A regional championship tournament will be held in its place.

Peter McGovern, chairman of the Williamsport, Pa., based group, said, however, that senior and big league world championships for boys whose ages range from 13 to 18 years old will continue.

McGovern said it was decided by the board to discontinue the Little League World Series because of apparent health hazards.

The decision was based on previous studies conducted by Little League which showed that youngsters 12 years old and under "should not be subjected to the pressure of the game," McGovern said.

The decision, he added, was not aimed against the participation of Nationalist China in the Little League tournaments.

McGovern, 63, a gold medal-winner in the 1932 Olympics, said the Chinese in Taiwan can participate in the senior and big leagues tournaments "provided they win the regional championship to represent the Far East." Taiwan is the defending champion in both divisions.

McGovern, who arrived in Manila earlier from Taipei where he attended the preliminary meeting of the Far East Little League, said the world championships for the senior and big leagues would be held in August in Gary, Ind., and Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

He added that no political issue was involved in the discontinuation of the Little League World Series of which the Chinese boys also are champions.

"We were misunderstood when we announced the cancellation of the series," McGovern said. "Some reports made us appear to have booted out Taiwan from Little League."

Bad Dock has a whole new act

By Ira Berkow
NEA Sports Editor

BRADENTON, Fla. — (NEA) — "Walkin' softly," said Dock Ellis, the Pittsburgh pitcher, "that's what my act is all about now.

"Controversy is out. Too much of a burden. I'd be explaining things to writers when I could've been out limbering up. I only have a few years left, four or five. And I haven't yet made the most of my abilities."

Dock Ellis has just turned 30 years old and, according to Dock, there have been some radical changes made at this watershed age.

Spirited, gifted, whimsical, naughty and nonconforming, Ellis has created flaps:

He caused a stir when a hotel on the road did not honor his request for a bed to accommodate his 6-3 body, bridled when his manager took him out of the starting rotation, fought with Cincinnati gate attendants who refused to believe that he was a visiting player. And, most bizarre of all, he shocked all baseball by entering the record books as the first male ballplayer to warm up before a game in hair curlers — pink hair curlers.

"The thing that upset me most about that hair curler episode was that I did not get one offer to do a hair spray or a shampoo ad, or something — nothing," he said.

Ellis now stood at the batting cage here, wearing his white Pirate uniform, white sneakers, a yellow and black knit cap on this warm spring training day and a neatly trimmed beard. He was scheduled to pitch five innings today, and would soon change into spikes and baseball cap.

"Hey," he asked, suddenly, "what time's the game start?"

"1:30," he was told.

"Two hours to go! Damn, I thought it was starting at 12:30, I'm all loaded and cocked right now — hope I don't peak too soon."

It was a kind of joke, kind of a serious statement. Dock Ellis sometimes remains in that twilight zone in conversation.

Braves belt Giants, 7-4

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Darrell Evans belted a three-run homer and the Atlanta Braves broke a 4-4 tie on an error and a wild pitch in the fifth inning to beat the San Francisco Giants 7-4 Saturday.

Ralph Garr started the winning rally with an infield single and Marty Perez walked, chasing loser John D'Aquisto, 0-1.

With one out, Mike Lum was safe on a fielder's choice and Garr scored the go-ahead run when first baseman Gary Thomasson threw wildly trying to force Perez at second. Perez eventually scored on Charlie Williams' wild pitch to give the Braves an insurmountable 6-4 lead.

Pair shatter distance marks

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jo Harshbarger and John Naber, a pair of durable teen-agers, shattered American records in the grueling 1,650-yard freestyle on the final night of the National Amateur Athletic Union short course indoor swimming championships Saturday.

Naber, 19, accomplished his feat in relative obscurity late in the afternoon when Keating Natatorium was nearly empty of swimmers and fans. His fourth heat time of 15 minutes, 9.51 seconds lowered the national standard by nearly six seconds.

Miss Harshberger, 18, was cheered on by a full house as the night finals began. She said the crowd's urging was a big assist in her women's mark of 16:27.11.

"They (the crowd) were very loud. It helped me a lot," said the 5-foot-4½, 117-pound high school senior from Bellevue, Wash.

Naber, a 6-foot-6 sophomore from the University of Southern California, wiped out Mike Bruner's national record of 15:15.33 set in the 1974 AAU indoor meet.

Miss Harshberger's performance erased the old record of 16:28.37 Karen Hazen established in last year's meet. This time the defending champion was clocked in 17:02.96 and failed to make the top eight.

The two's efforts gave the women nine American records and the men three during the four-day meet.

Meanwhile among the teams, Southern California had clinched the men's title with 321 points, a whopping 123 points in front of runnerup UCLA. Indiana was third with 189 points going into the last eight events.

Mission Viejo, Calif., was out front in the women's race with 214 points. Santa Clara, Calif., Swim Club, seeking a fourth straight women's title, was second ith 190.

None of Naber's competitors in the 1,650 freestyle heats at night could overtake the Trojan giant. Tim Shaw, the high school whiz from Long Beach, Calif., took second in 15:13.87. Bruner finished fifth.

Shirley Babashoff became the meet's first triple winner when she captured the 100 freestyle in 50.97. Earlier, the 18-year-old from Mission Viejo, Calif., had won the 200 and 500 freestyles.

The men's 100 freestyle crown went to Andy Coan, only a high school junior in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. The 6-foot-4 stringbean turned in a 44.50 to edge college champion Jonty Skinner,

Follow the "red" brick road to TRI-VALLEY BROKERS new office at 268 Main St., Pleasanton, adjacent to the Gay 90's Pizza Parlor. A new, modern and greatly enlarged office suite became home for the 11 Pleasanton based Realtor associates the first of April, and they welcome you to drop in anytime.

"Our new office has many advantages," according to Herb Singleton, office manager, "and we feel better able now to fully serve our clients." Herb points out that "in addition to providing imaginative and competent assistance to people who are buying or selling a home." TRI-VALLEY also provides a free rental service for its customers.

With its four offices and 70 salespeople TRI - VALLEY has been serving the valley area since 1971. The firm's three brokers, Betty Ward, Jim Ward and Charlie Kurtzer, are all life - time members of SOUTHERN ALAMEDA COUNTY'S BOARD OF REALTOR'S "Million Dollar Club."

"Every facet of every real estate transaction is becoming more complex and changing daily," claims Herb, "and the need for a highly trained professional agent has never been greater. Your agent should be backed by an organization that insists on meticulous attention to every detail and operates with integrity proven over years of consistent performance. TRI-VALLEY'S system of each agent in full control of his escrows insures the utmost in customer satisfaction. Our firm is backed with the industries' most complete and liberal guarantee and trade - in program which helps to make TRI - VALLEY a leader in this area's real estate field."

Fifth Street School

These first graders at the Fifth Street Elementary School in Livermore are busily engaged in making napkins out of fabric scraps and napkin holders out of toilet tissue tubes. It is all part of a lesson being taught by Sally Brown Feinberg. A previous picture with an abbreviated caption had several errors, as are noted in the editor's "Round The Town" column on today's editorial page. We just wanted to run this photo to show how Ms. Feinberg's students learned the lesson of ecology.

Chabot College encouraging pharmacy through programs

Chabot College is fulfilling a community need and training students to become pharmacists at the same time under its new Hospital Pharmacy Technician program begun in January.

Formal classroom instruction along with 450 hours of vocational work experience in Bay Area Hospital pharmacies will enable the 19 students enrolled in the program to Certificates of Achievements.

Chabot College is the first Northern California community college to start a program such as this, prompted by local hospitals indicating a need for Pharmacy Technicians.

"This is a case of the College filling a community need and meeting the needs of the students at the same time," Dr. Robert Mirigian, coordinator of the program, explained.

Technicians receive training in drug distribution to both outpatients and inpatients as well as in floor stock distribution. Students become involved in all aspects of preparing, manufacturing, and procurement of drug products.

The program represents an integration of the Arts and Sciences with Technical-Vocational Education and is taught by a faculty with special background and training.

Dr. Barbara Mertes, now Dean of the new Valley campus, and Dr. Mirigian were instrumental in organizing the program. Its development was aided by an advisory committee of pharmacy service directors, representatives of the Northern California Society of Hospital Pharmacists, and members of the Chabot College faculty and staff.

Instructors include Dr. Armand Chann, Chief Pharmacist for Mills Hospital in San Mateo; Dr. Ronald Nagata, Clinical Pharmacy teaching coordinator at the San Francisco Veterans' Administration Hospital; Dr. Joseph Tonelli, director of Pharmacy Services at Peninsula Hospital in Burlingame; and Dr. Michael Yee, Mills Hospital Pharmacist.

"This program is certainly a thing of the future," Mirigian said. "The State Board of Pharmacy is now studying the role of the technician while a legisiative committee is considering the need for legislation concerning the technicians."

Employment prospects for such technicians are excel-Lent, said Mirigian, due to recent changes in hospital delivery systems including unit dose distribution and the changing role of the hospital pharmacist, who is more involved in the clinical aspects of drug therapy.

Mirigian also teaches Chemistry and Pharmacology at Chabot College and is a hospital pharmacist, as well as the program's coordinator.

Astrology show open at Chabot

You can learn to tell your fortune in the stars by attending "Astrology: Stars of the Zodiac," a new show at the Chabot College Planetarium.

The program is free and open to the public and will be presented each Tuesday and Friday evenings at 7 p.m. and again at 8 p.m. through May 2.

"We will examine each astrological sign from the standpoint of the entire Zodiac, and tell the audience how to find their own signs in the sky," says Planetarium Director Larry Toy. Toy will also present a theme song for each sign and discuss the various mythologies surrounding the five visible planets.

The motions of the earth that are leading us to the Age of Aquarius will also be analyzed during the program.

Reservations to "Astrology: Stars of the Zodiac" are required and may be obtained by calling 782-3000, ext. 417.

The Planetarium is located on the Chabot College campus, 25555 Hesperian Blvd, in Hayward.

A new dollar value on all high school sports

A great deal is being written these days about "equalizing the money budgeted for boys' and girls' athletic programs in high schools and colleges." Maybe it is time some one wrote about the need for a fresh look at the intent and the benefits of all tax - supported sports in public schools and universities.

High school coaches across the land are prepared to acknowledge the hypocracy which abounds in the recruitment by major colleges of their top prep athletes. A series of reports being produced by the Associated Press reveals a shocking story of bribery, falsified grades for "needy" high school athletes, and "unbearable pressures" on the promising high schooler being wooed by a dozen major colleges.

Some of the more honest high school coaches are prepared to take on their college counterparts in a confrontation aimed at halting, or least curbing, these "recruitment practices." "we can't ignore the dollar value" of a promising young athlete. They would therefore strip the sham of amateurism from all young athletes, compel the colleges to place an honest dollar value on the promising high school senior, and "if it takes several thousands of dollars to keep a player from becoming totally professional, then pay him." That is at least a more forthright approach than the dirty business now involving high school and university coaches, ambitious dads and bewildered young athletes.

The candor should not stop with the coaches, or even a few select parents. That group is inclined to forget that it is taxpayers' money at the high school level, and usually more of our taxes at the college level which make possible the vast mechanism of coaches, fields, training and equipment which produce that "gifted athlete." There are those who answer that argument by suggesting, "But varsity sports in high schools and colleges are the only school programs which show a profit."

That is a ridiculous argument. The reason inter - school competition draws paying customers is because that is the way we structure the whole program . . . providing the best facilities, reserving the best night - time hours and guiding the choicest athletes onto that varsity squad. Now, perhaps, all that is about to change.

We owe it to the girls for breaking up that bit of high school and college chauvinism. Something called "Title Nine" in the government code requires all tax - supported schools to spend equal amounts of money on athletic programs for both the sexes. There are informed people who contend "this could mean the end of athletic competition at the college level as we now know it." Terrific!

Next thing you know the moguls of professional sports will stop bribing college sophomores and junior college graduates to join those pro ranks. That of course would spell an end to all professional sports. But "they" would never let it happen. The pro team owners (together with their TV godfathers) would find ways to subsidize college athletics. The colleges in turn would want to make certain high school sports got their share of the loot . . . even down to the fourth - string boy and the overweight girl, if such be necessary to please the congress, placate the public and guarantee that the great kindergarten - to - professionalism athletic funnel would somehow be preserved. Then instead of having to add a charitable dollar onto the pro baseball ticket for a single game "to save high school sports in San Franciso," the pros could simply let that dollar surcharge stand for every game, sending back to the schools (and the taxpayers) a little of the money we have been spending on their behalf for all these years, and for reasons that no one has yet to ask, "Why?"

WINNER OF CALIFORNIA NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS' AWARD FOR EDITORIAL EXCELLENCE

Rose Show is unique

A bank lobby will be transformed into an exciting garden in what has become one of the more fascinating spring rites within the valley. The 37th anniversary running of the Pleasanton Rose Show May 10 and 11. But exhibitors have to get busy right now.

The care and preparation of bushes in several hundred backyards throughout the valley is as important to the show as the exhibit itself. The final judging is by top experts in the field, and the entries must meet their critical inspection. For those who earn a blue ribbon, and even for those who do not, there is the satisfaction of knowing they competed with the best, in what is perhaps the "best small town flower exhibition in Northern California."

First National Bank of Pleasanton sponsors the Rose Show, and gives its Main Street offices to those displays for the two days. Warren Harding, Firstbank's president, promises "several exciting new categories this year," and they will be the subject of an upcoming report. Individual blooms, of Hybrid Tea roses, climbing roses, floribundas and grandifloras can be entered for competition. Classes for flower arrangements are also offered. A special class for young people, with the theme "Circus Days," will feature arrangements by young people in the 10 to 14 bracket.

There is no charge for entering the show, and no charge for admission.

The week in retrospect

Exercise in nothing

One of the bigger exercises in "nothingness" occurred during the past week when a Mr. and Mrs. Jack Scott, along with a tall bearded basketball player, held a "press conference" in San Francisco.

Of course, the electronic media went running licketty-split with all their cameras and microphones ... but of course the Bay Area tv people have always covered every single radical or weirdo since the days of Mario Savio at the University of California.

Anti-establishment types have found out that calling a "press conference" in the Bay Area means automatic coverage by all the television stations and most of the major papers ... plus radio stations such as KPFA in Berkeley.

The "press conference" apparently was for the purpose of the Scotts' letting all their friends know they are alive and well ... and to thumb their noses at the Federal Bureau of Investigation (A pause while all anti - establishment types cheer and yell "Right On").

I'm not sure why Walton...the basketball player...showed up but apparently he is quite sympathetic to the Scotts' position ... whatever that might be (Yawn).

And just what connection the Scotts have in the Patricia Heart SLA caper is unknown, aside from their alleged renting of a farm house in Pennsylvania to people resembling Patricia Hearst and the Harrises.

Frankly, I can think of a few hundred people off hand who wouldn't care if the Scotts, Bill Walton, Patricia Hearst and the so-called "SLA" were never mentioned again in newsprint or on television.

Their ilk are best left to the sensation-mongers and other deviates of the so-called "underground media."

I am really not too interested in what a Jack Scott has to say concerning the FBI, or the state of athletics for that matter, when we have a Congress and President forever squabbling over spending priorities....to name just one solid news story.

Why must the major news media be concerned with some person or group of persons obviously intent on "putting down" anything resembling "the establishment" and following the peccadillos of a rich man's spoiled brat of a daughter.

I believe that the great majority of people want to know more about where their taxes are going whether it be to a corrupt government in Vietnam or a dedicated city staff or school district earnestly trying to make ends meet.

Perhaps the point of all this is that many of us are "up to here" with the daily dose of the SLA, Patricia Hearst, Wilbur Mills and Fanny (e) and the editorialists who insist on picking the life out of Richard M. Nixon's carcass.

Maybe we're past due to get back to the positive values of reporting and writing.

Ice rink prices hit

Editor, The Times:

On April 8 we went to the new Iceland skating rink in Dublin .... We were ... greeted by a $1.75 admission charge plus an extra 50 cents for skate rental. A total of $2.25. Children from ages 11 to 16 must pay $1.50 plus 50 cents for skates. A child under 11 must pay $1.25 plus the skate charge.

These amounts may not seem high until it is realized that the skating sessions are only two and a half hours long. No matter what time you arrive you still pay the full amount. There are not any special family or evening rates. Sun Valley ice rink in Concord charges a total of $2.00 (adult) and you can skate from 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Dublin has lacked good wholesome activities for its' young people and families. We feel to be an asset to our community the hours of Iceland should be extended and or rates should be reduced. It is up to us to see that they are changed.

round the town

So how are things with the rest of the world? Or is it really true that this one valley is the "sewerage and smog capital of the universe"?

We have evidence from Medina, Ohio that other folks have effluent problems, too. "We take our water from Lake Erie, drink it, send it through our new treatment system, and the effluent that we send back to the lake is a better quality than the water we first took out," we are informed by Donald Simmons, a member of the Medina County Commissioners.

He did not come to our valley to discuss sewer systems. He came to discuss federal detention centers. The one we have at Camp Parks is being duplicated by the feds on a parcel very close to Medina But not if the locals there have anything to say about it. A recent telephone call from the editor of the Medina newspaper tipped us off that all was not well with the plans for a Youth Detention Center in that sylvan scene. "It's a federal prison, and everybody knows it," that journalist said. Ohioans are not to be fooled. No sirree.

It wasn't the first long - distance call this newspaper received on that same subject. Several other folks in and near Medina have called. "What kind of riot did you have out there when you got the word that the prison was coming?" Questions like that. They simply would not believe that folks out here greeted the whole federal project with calm deliberation, intelligent questions, and enlightened approval.

"You must have an unusually calm community up there," a caller from San Diego suggested. (I forgot to mention than San Diego is also slated to get a Youth Detention Center. Folks there are disturbed, too.) No, we told the man, we aren't really all that calm. We just save our ire for important things . . . like suing builders, suing the highway department, that sort of thing.

Speaking of smog capitals, there are some very knowledgeable people who are beginning to question that doubtful tribute affixed to "the Livermore Valley." For one thing, the Air Pollution Control District's valley monitor is located in the far eastern corner of the valley, where all the foul air is apt to collect, on days we have same. For another, the people who operate that monitor for the district "are known activists against growth." The combination suggests that we may be getting less than an honest reading on the valley's air pollution picture.

Airline pilots who fly over this valley report that "on a really smoggy day, you can see the stuff hanging over places like Oakland, San Jose and South San Francisco." They also observe pockets of air pollution moving down from Martinez, bottled up in the narrow San Ramon neck. "But the sky over the Amador and Livermore valleys will be clear as a bell," they state.

Seems that nature doesn't agree with science. A strange phenomenon; there are those who wonder if it's also strange politics.

* * *

Others are beginning to wonder, "What the hell's going on around here?" That's not our thought (not this time) but rather that of an early Friday morning caller. No doubt was glancing at the front page of his Times before fighting that uncertain commute through Dublin Canyon. "Just who is this 'Sierra Club' anyway?" he demanded. Is it some local bar, or something?" No. It's a San Francisco bar. Loaded with attorneys who sit around and think up ways to file suits, against this and that. Whatever's popular.

Maybe the Pleasanton Rotary Club has the right idea. The Rotarians — as with all such service clubs — are blessed each week with a luncheon speaker, or whatever. If you want to duck out before the oration starts, it costs a buck in the fine pot. The club is making a fortune.

The speaker is placated by the receipt of a gift. A package of cheese donated by the Cheese Factory. Rotary is grateful. "The club truly appreciates the generosity of George Spiliotopoulos and the Cheese Factory for donation of gifts for speakers now sealed in cellophane," the Rotary bulletin reports. If George has the secret for wrapping luncheon speakers in cellophane, he could be headed for something big.

The former mayor of Pleasanton and incumbent bon vivante is on the verge of big happenings again. Can't say what, just yet. But it's guaranteed to stir up the valley corpuscles, again.

Just in time to get our minds off sewers, smog and freeway widths. Thanks, George, we needed that.

* * *

If Medina turns you on, then go! So says BankAmerica. A recent survey indicates we still have the travel bug, regardless of our financial woes. "As many Californians expect to take travelling vacations this year as last, despite the current recession." BofA says it's so. The trips will be somewhat shorter, "But Californians are going to take their vacation, no matter what!" Right on.

Maybe we could save a buck by boarding those World Airways jets on the return trip to Saigon. No point in Mr. Daly's jumbos flying westward across the Pacific without any passengers. With any luck you'll get the big honcho himself at the controls. With pistol. Stop off in Honolulu and shoot up the sugar cane bureaucracy. "Get that hotel off the runway — we are taking off no matter what you control tower idiots say!" Just like in the Trib's version of Camelot.

Personally, I'd prefer the Greyhound to Medina. More my speed.

Sound and Fury

Walt Hecox

Cheryl Hoffman answered the telephone Friday morning as she frequently does when Laura Hartman is away from her desk.

The gentleman calling was, to put it mildly, irritated by the story on the top of page 1 in the 12 point box headed, "Sierra club sues to stop I 580 widening "

"What is this Sierra Club anyway?" he demanded, righteous indignation oozing from his voice. "Is it one of the local bars?"

Cheryl, a patient lass and a kindly soul, explained patiently that the Sierra Club is a very old and highly respected conservation oriented organization which wants to preserve the natural beauty of the countryside and its environment.

"Oh," the angry laddie responded. "A conversation group! Well what business is it of theirs to block a highway we all need?"

A good question, ladies amd gentlemen, no matter how confused the laddie who asked.

Believe me the Sierra Club is not a local bar though I would wager my sweet Post Toasties the state of California possesses one such place of business.

Certainly there should be a Sierra Club in Sierra City, that fine village where Jack Welter, who has been the Sacramento mouthpiece for the Monarch of the Dailies for more years than either he or I cares to remember, and I once ended our mountain fishing expeditions.

Jack, who has been riding the water wagon for years now, once was a solid believer that a man should fish, play golf or inhale wheat squeezings in his spare time but that none of those splendid hobbies should be mixed with the other.

Whatever the case the owners of any taverns known as the Sierra Club in California or otherwise probably have little interest in the construction, or lack of it, of an eight lane link on Interstate 580 connecting the valley with the bay plain.

There is, on the other hand, considerable interest in the project by members of that giant group of hikers, mountain climbers, bird watchers and just plain conservationists who have gathered together in the Sierra Club.

The club, as might have been expected, is moving toward legal action which could possibly halt the project for all time, thus perpetuating the massive daily traffic jam which is a part of the daily life of folks who commute to either side of the mountain.

We will all pay for the club's obstinate and total disregard for the will of the majority which has emphatically expressed an opinion in favor of widening the highway.

Only in Livermore, the town I once idiotically called Brainville, is there any sizeable cadre of opponents to the widening project.

Even there the majority favors widening the highway. The cost of not proceeding, and the call for construction bids is already out, will be additional deaths, more smog in the valley emanating from the carbon monoxide and photogenic hydrocarbon bowls of that slow moving motorized monster, and billions of frayed nerve ends owned by unfortunate commuters.

I realize one Don Miller is of the opinion the time is coming when a man must live within five miles of his job. But I maintain where a man lives and where he works is his own damn business and that it is the business of the government to provide him with adaquate roads on which to travel hither and yon.

Frankly, though I found the serious question about the possiblility of the Sierra Club being a local bar highly amusing, I agree with the laddie who questions the group's right to block construction of the highway and with his later suggestion that someone sue the club.

A few class action suits by the abused majorities of these United States are in order, I believe. The Sierra Club, which started with good intention and which, with its rock climbing, hiking and other activities has many admirable facets, has been out of line and getting away with it so long it is downright ridiculous.

Had the club had its way about a half century ago the City of San Francisco would have been deprived of one of the finest water supplies in the world.

Hetch-Hetchy reservoir is located in a solid granite valley so high and remote in the Sierra Nevada it is only visited by a few chipmunks, high flying Mexican eagles and an occasional hibernating bear.

The water which flowed through that valley was pristine and clear, the great water which can only be found in places like those lofty mountains.

Formed by the snows that melted on the slopes of 12 and 13,000 foot mountains which surround it, the water has no time to lose any measure of its purity before being trapped by the San Francisco Water Company.

The Hetch Hetchy water plan was grandiose and magnificent and has given San Francisco one of the greatest water supplies of any city on this earth.

The work provided by construction of part of that system while it moved through the Livermore Amador Valley is what made this a depression proof area during the 30's.

Yet the Sierra Club fought the project with unbridled ferocity, a long and expensive battle for the preservation of that remote mountain valley which did nothing except cost the taxpayers of the City of San Francisco, and the club, money.

When the war ended and the bitter smoke of controversy had cleared, the Sierra Club lost and San Francisco had its fine water supply. The club was wrong then and has been wrong for most of the time ever since. There have been exceptions, but not many.

I say it is high time the Sierra Club be taken to court and made accountable for its actions, that if it insists on its obstructionist policies it should pay damages to the people it hurts with its suits, delays and just plain meddling with the will of the majority.

For Sunday April13, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you're the one who makes out the family budget this week, chances are there'll be a little surplus after bills are paid.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're up to handling matters that call for firmness and persistence. What you start, you're likely to see through.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't be hesistant today about calling in nearly forgotten IOU's. Your odds of collecting are better than even.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)A good day to appraise the project you've been thinking of undertaking. Today you'll reflect upon it in a practical manner.

LEO (July 23-Aug.22) Goals are not likely to elude you today. You have some aces in the hole. You know how to play them.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Today you'll be able to put in some good words for a friend of lond-standing. She'll learn of this later and be grateful.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct 23) Talk over financial matters jointly affecting you and your mate. If your goals are in accord, success is within reach.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)A decision you'll have to make may at first appear stern to the casual observer. Events will prove that to be necessary, just and fair.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'll go out of your way to be of service to one who is older. Your kind deed will be remembered and later rewarded.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You have an ally who is always there when needed. Again today, she'll do her best to make things pleasant for you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll be in the mood to clean up those bothersome little chores you haven't had a chance to get to this week. Get at them!

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Today, seek out persons with whom you have ideas in common. Something good will come from your conversations.

Your Birthday

April 13, 1975

Your material situation will be more stable this year. Funds should be available to do things for the family you've had to hold in abeyance.

East Bay Parks strike nexes weekend plans

The popular weekend environmental education and natural history programs usually offered at East Bay Regional Parks have been canceled as long as the current strike lasts.

That announcement was made Friday by EBRPD officials, who added the parks are open to the public although use of city, county and state parks is being urged as an alternative.

EBRPD employes who belong to Local 2428, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, have been striking for a week and a half. Talks have been going on through a state mediator, but agreement has not been reached yet.

The 185 union employes are claiming EBRPD management wants to re - classify some 50 workers into management positions, leaving management with about 120 non - union workers and 135 union employes. That would effectively break the union, they contend.

Both the union and management want the public to continue using the tax - supported facilities. EBRPD wants the public to carry out their own garbage, a job normally done by a union park employe.

Suspended until strike settlement are nature walks, programs, lectures and demonstrations at Sunol Regional Wilderness, Tilden Regional Park in Berkeley and Coyote Hills Regional Park in Fremont. Camping areas are also closed at Sunol and Anthony Chabot Regional Parks, as well as at Del Valle where a big construction project has necessitated closing the Livermore park since last fall.

School groups are still being allowed into the parks for field trips they may have booked long ago (as well as for more recently planned outings). No park docents are available, but at least one Livermore class got around that problem by inviting along some local biologists and some parents who prepared themselves to explain certain aspects of Sunol's flora and fauna to the children.

New $2000 tax credit available.

Brown backs farm labor ballot bill

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. on Thursday put his political clout behind a farm labor secret ballot bill he said would hopefully "bring fair play to the fields of California."

At a Capitol news conference, the Democratic governor sat flanked by the bill's Democratic coauthors, Sen. John Dunlap and Assembly majority floor leader Howard Berman.

"This is the first time in the history of the United States that a serious farm labor bill" has been presented to a legislature on this topic, Brown said.

The Brown - backed legislation would require secret ballot elections in order for agricultural unions to be certified as representatives of farm workers.

A union would have to pick up a majority of the workers at peak harvest in order to be legally designated as the workers' representative.

Harvest - time strikes, consumer boycotts, limited secondary boycotts and recognitional picketing would be allowed under the bill.

If workers went on strike, an election would be required within 48 hours. If the workers petitioned for an election, it would have to be held within seven days.

Existing contracts would be nullified by the bill because every union would have to be certified under the election procedure establishd by the measure.
